Escaped prisoner Dean Parsons (1) finally gave himself up this morning after a dramatic twelve-hour siege during which he threatened to blow himself and his female hostage up with a hand grenade. Parsons, who was serving an eight-year sentence for holding up a post Office and making off with five thousand pounds, had broken out of Peterhead prison eleven days previously. The hostage is believed to be Kelly Mc Alister (2), Parson's former girlfriend, and the occupant of the flat where the siege took place.

Three years ago, when Parsons first came before the court for armed robbery (3), McAlister was brought up on charges of being an accomplice to the crime. However, when the jury brought their verdict in (4), McAlister was let off for lack of evidence. After he was sentenced, Parsons was led from the dock shouting 'You should have sent her down too. It was her idea in the first place!'

It is not yet known where or how Parsons spent his first ten days on the run, but last night neighbours of McAlister's phoned the police to report (5) sounds of someone breaking in next door.
